

Egyptian Association for Development and Childhood

Certificate of Appreciation

In October 1992 , and following the events of the earth quake which hit several regions in Egypt; the Egyptian Association for Development and Childhood adopted a national campaign for the collection of sufficient capital to construct One Hundred New Schools to compensate the schools that were demolished by the earthquake.

The entire nation reacted to this national call, while the daughters and sons of the nation competed in answer to this invitation.

Today, and after the passage of twenty nine months, the schools are fully constructed ; meanwhile, the Egyptian Association for Development and Childhood announced the completion of the project , and to honor all participated in the financial donations for the completion this great project. Among these donors is:

Doctor/Nader Riad-Bavaria Egypt Company.

Who enjoys the high esteem of the Association for Development and Childhood, for his invaluable and tangible participation in this project.

A participation that expresses his true Nationalism, in addition to vital interest in all that touches from far or near the interest of this nation.
